The Rumor Concerning the Indians.

The telegraph office in this city is being anxiously watched for news from above with regard to the report of the Indians being about to rise against the whites. The Government will be made acquainted with the real nature of the case, and if it be found necessary, proper measures will be resorted to at once to suppress any Indian raid which might dare be attempted. The natives have too much sense to attempt anything of the sort, and too wholesome a dread of the result of anything they might rashly be driven to. The news on Saturday was very meagre, as the line up country is in a bad state of repair; a large force is, however, put on to keep it in order. The Indians around Yale have been investing largely in muskets and bayonets, and have stolen a keg of powder from Nelson's store. No one, however, thinks this has any connection with the rumored contemplated uprising of the Indians above. The rumor has caused much uneasiness, as Yale is almost defenceless, there being no arms to speak of there.

The Latest Balloon Voyage on Record.

A curious story comes to us across the ocean of a shapely bundle of rags found recently in a tree top in the South African colony of Natal. It proved to be a deflated balloon, which had floated out of Paris during the siege with a freight of letters and despatches—orders from the Government of National Defence to its Generals in the field, and messages of love and cheer of sorrow and comfort from the suffering citizens to their friends in the rear. If the Government had no better way than this of reaching its commanders, it is perhaps not surprising that the military operations of France occasionally lack consistency. It has been suggested that the contents of this aerial mail might have had an important bearing on the trial of Bazaine; but a question which will interest the public far more than the purpose of the letters is how the balloon should have found its way from France to the southern extremity of Africa. It is over 5,000 miles from Paris in a direction almost due south. We should like to know what Professor Wiss's easterly current was doing while the air-ship made this extraordinary voyage.

HAD TASTE.—The you see him, and now you don't see him, the Colonist accuses us of publishing two columns of the Hon. Attorney General's speech on the graving dock, while we presented a "crucially garbled and imperfect report" of Messrs. Robertson and McCreight's speeches. We deny it, and further state that the STANDARD gave fuller and fairer reports of all three than appeared in the Colonist. Why did not the Colonist represent those gentlemen itself with full speeches? Simply for the reason it can't afford to do so. We will take this occasion to state that we intend, during the Session, to give the fullest reports of the proceedings, and have already made arrangements to this effect.

The Pacific Mail steamer Alaska was so badly damaged and strained by the hurricane she encountered outside of Yokohama, and by a continuance of rough weather throughout the passage, that repairs and a general overhauling are necessary, and her date of sailing is postponed until the 1st of January. The company has no steamer in dock to take her place, unless one were transferred from the Panama line, and thus it has been compelled to forego one trip, and cause a fortnight's delay to passengers and merchants. The steamer, scheduled for the 16th in the Colima, a propter, the first of the new class of ships built for the company. Her sister ship, the Colima, made a successful trial on the 30th of November.

THE DOCK QUESTION.—We hear that Mr. Cogan's course is calling public meetings has met with general approval; and we hear, too, that the opposition proposed by Mr. Robertson to the scheme proposed by the Government is very generally condemned, as being factious and uncalled for. The people of Esquimaux should consider and make themselves acquainted with this question. Let them read Hon. Mr. Walker's masterly speech on the subject, which will appear in to-morrow's issue of the WEEKLY STANDARD.

MARRIAGE.—Mrs. Belle Chamberlain delivered a lecture last night, at the Alhambra Hall, to about two hundred people, on "Marriage as it ought to be." It is scarcely necessary to add that the ideas advanced were radical, and despotic of the upper class, both juvenile and adult, and had the tinge of emanating from a person very properly ignored by society, and discouraged by the more refined and cultivated.

POLICE COURT.—A squaw preferred a charge of rape against a man, in the Police Court on Saturday last. The magistrate did not consider the evidence warranted a commitment, and discharged the case. A number of young lads who have been found engaged in breaking the street lamps with stone-throwing, were brought up and received a caution that if again caught in the act, one and all would be made an example to others.

THEATRE, BOSTON & TUNSTALL'S almanac for 1874, together with price list, is being delivered in town. The interesting features of the moon's changes, and the sun's rising and setting, calculated for Province, is still continued. This handsome little publication also contains an abstract of meteorological reports, kept at Fisgard lighthouse, Esquimaux, during last year.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—It will be seen that the next election for the Municipality will take place on the 22nd of next month. It is believed, however, that several of the present members of the Council will offer for re-election; in that case we believe, they will be returned.

I.O.O.F.—The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months, at a meeting of Dominion Lodge, No. 4, held on Friday evening last: M. J. Goode, N.G.; J. Wrightson, V.G.; R. M. Caldwell, E. S. Chas. Robinson, P.S.; T. N. Hibben, Treasurer.

TO-MORROW.—Passengers for New Westminster and the mainland should remember that the steamer Enterprise sails to-morrow at eight a.m., instead of on Wednesday, as usual.

HIGHWAYS.—By notice in our advertising columns it will be seen that a number of highways are established in New Westminster district.

TENDERS are called for a brick culvert to be erected near to the Humboldt street entrance of the Park.

TOM GORMAN'S raffle will take place in a day or two; the list of prizes is filling up rapidly.

On the evening of the 19th there was quite a pleasant and happy gathering of the pupils and their friends, and so large was the assemblage that the room was unable to accommodate all who were present. The children were delighted with a handsome Christmas tree laden with presents, and contributed by their teachers, &c. We have again, as we did last year, to congratulate the teachers and those who have to do with the New Westminster Public School for the continued and marked efficiency and progress of the pupils during another year.

Funeral of Professor Agassiz.

The funeral of Professor Agassiz took place at Boston, on the 18th inst., from Appleton Chapel, Harvard University, which was profusely decorated with funeral emblems and flowers, tributes of respect from the students. The services, which were extremely simple, began with chanting a selection from the Oberlin Mass. by the Harvard Glee Club. The burial service, from the King's Chapel liturgy, was then read by Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody, preacher of the University, which was immediately followed by the singing of the hymn, "Go to the Grave." As the body was removed, a dead march was performed on the organ. A long cortege followed to the burial place, in Mount Auburn Cemetery. The church was densely crowded, many being unable to gain admittance. Among those present were Vice-President Wilson, Governor Washburn, ex-Governor Claflin, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Ralph Waldo Emerson, E. Reed, and a large number of other distinguished persons. The church bells in Boston and Cambridge were tolled, and flags were at half-mast during the funeral.

A RAFFLE is proposed representing a real value of $25, to be divided into one hundred and fifty chances at $1.50 each. There are eleven articles to compete for. The highest throw is to have the privilege of the first choice, and consecutively graduating the choices according to the number thrown. The articles comprise eight oil-cup pictures, all handsomely framed. These are from masterpieces of art. Also three imperial quarto books, profusely illustrated. One is replete with photographs from original engravings in the British Museum. Another, "The Vision of Purgatory and Paradise," by Dante Alighieri, illustrated with the designs of M. Gustave Doré. Also, by the same artist, "Avalon," by Chateaubriand, equally fine. These articles are upon exhibition, and the list of persons who wish to take their chance is open for inspection, at T. N. Hibben & Co.'s, Government street.

THERE can be no better illustration of the approved quality of the groceries, wines and spirits sold by John Boyd, Patrick's Corner, Johnson street, than in the large measure of patronage that has been extended him since he commenced business. Every article is spoken of as being the very best. Connoisseurs of whiskey declare his blend of that spirit to be unequalled in this market, for delicacy of flavor and genuine excellence. The blend will no doubt prove very attractive to families and others during the approaching festive season.

JEWELRY.—J. L. Jungerman, the well known jeweler of Government street, has, in addition to his ordinarily large and fine selection of fine goods, received by the latest steamer, many of the richest kinds of jewelry, of the latest manufacture. These were imported expressly with a view to supplying purchasers for the ensuing holidays. Also the richest solid silver and electro-plated ware will be found there. Prices reduced to meet holiday trade.

THE VICTORIA BUREAU.—Books of all descriptions bound in elegant Turkey Morocco or common Sheep. Paper ruled in any pattern; receipts numbered and perforated; charts or maps mounted on linen, with rollers attached, or with cover, suitable for the pocket. R. T. Williams, at T. N. Hibben & Co.'s.

Lillooet Correspondence.

EDITOR STANDARD: I take this opportunity of forwarding for your inspection, samples of wheat, the produce of my farms east of the Cascade mountains. No. 1 package is the produce of bench land—of course, irrigated—and called the Chadwick wheat, as it was introduced some years ago by that person. It is a general favorite with the millers, from its easy grinding, and producing more flour than any other wheat, and equally productive in straw. No. 2 sample is Red Chaff, grown on the same land, easier to thresh, but does not produce so much flour. No. 3 sample is the same as No. 1, but grown on reclaimed ground—not irrigated. Our bench lands produce on an average one thousand pounds per acre; decidedly the best spring wheat in the world, equal to any winter grown wheat. Brush, or reclaimed lands, yield an average of two thousand bushels per acre, but not so fine in quality. I would have sent you a barrel of flour made from No. 1 sample, but it would, at the lowest calculation, cost, laid down in Victoria, twelve dollars for freight and charges. I suppose you could purchase the imported article for half that amount. Should it not be out of place, I will give a short sketch of my farming on this side of the Cascades. In the spring of 1869, I settled upon my present farm; it was prognosticated that should nature prove me wrong, I was to work in good earnest to chop and burn; my progress was very slow, but I still stuck to the brush, setting little value on the land already cleared. In the fall of 1870, the Cascades was discovered, and the great price of barley caused persons to take up bench lands and irrigate. I saw their success; I also took up land adjoining my present farm, that classed before the Cascades as "in working trim, barley fell to three cents a bushel. After that we were aged to erect a flour mill, but wheat grown to never profitable, from want of people to consume the flour. My bench farm produces one hundred thousand pounds of wheat, and consumes the same amount of manure. I wish to let it on shares; I offer to furnish everything needed, for half the produce, the tenant contributing his labor alone. But it is not to be done; in fact, should the Provincial Legislature, when sitting, with a proviso that it was to be cropped a tenant could not be found. In fourteen years I have reclaimed from brush, one hundred acres, costing fifty dollars per acre. I have invested upwards of seventeen thousand dollars on the bench land, in ditching, draining, fencing, building and reclaiming, besides my own labor, and to-day the property is worthless.

Mr. Editor, I think I have fared much worse than the Provincial Legislature, who has spent the best of his life in the service of the people, and received but ingratitude. I have on hand a fair portion of my last crop of wheat in flour, and one hundred and fifty thousand pounds of wheat of this year's crop. Not a sack of flour or wheat, or any other article can I sell at any price. I have one satisfaction, however, I am not alone. Between Lillooet and Clinton there are well on to two million pounds of wheat, which divide by 255 gives 7,755 bushels of wheat, which could be forwarded to the coast, had we a practicable outlet—with 500,000 lbs. of beans. We never had but the Messrs. Harper to buy wheat; they have given it up for want of a market for the flour, having two years supply on hand. The cattle trail will not relieve the farmer from the pressure, and they (the farmers) constitute ninety-nine of the hundred of the settlers. It is supposed it will take $20,000 more to complete it. With the addition of $25,000 a wagon road could be built, making $45,000 in all. No kind of produce will pay two or three cents to the packer, but the settler with a road would have Yankee prices to get a few dollars for his present necessities, and his little necessities at reasonable rates. He has to pay at present from 100 to 600 per cent. over Victoria prices, and that is a sufficient tax for any class of men to pay. Give them protection, make them purchase their little necessities at reasonable rates. The people east of the Cascades would like to retain the powers that be, rather than a change of men, in order to give them an opportunity of establishing a policy adapted to the wants of the settlers. The road tax is condemned by all classes as being one-sided, and unjust. The poll tax of two dollars finds more favor, the road tax has been levied alone upon the energy and industry of the settler, while the Government as well as farming or other industries, require money to make them a success. No tax, or a direct one can be tolerated, but a general property tax. It was quite refreshing to read Mr. Smith's letter upon the tariff. It is evident we have one practical man to represent us. But I cannot see why the local Government has not the power of memorializing through our representatives in Ottawa. Has any other corporate body for instance the Board of Trade? It would not appear dignified to petition for what was ignorantly voted away, two sessions previously, but we expect our representatives to do their duty. Should the tariff be lowered, it would give us a special tariff, the could well afford to place two dollars per barrel on flour, as it would not clash with the interests of any of the rest of the Province. To place a duty upon wheat, then the large interests of Ontario and British Columbia, both forwarding and importing, would be in danger. It has been the policy of the Canadian Government to monopolize the carrying trade of the Great West. Could we get but the one concession, it would be of great benefit to this Province. Allowing wheat to come in free with two dollars placed on flour, would cause mills to be built on the seaboard. Every barrel of flour manufactured would leave two dollars in the Province; it would create a market for wheat; encourage farmers to grow it; settle upon those rich lands at the mouth of the Fraser; give an impetus to ship building; and foster the coasting trade, and protection to wheat growers generally.

The Talk of the Telegraph.

To the uninitiated listener the rattle of telegraph instruments is as idle as that of a loose clasp-knife or the gabble of geese. It is a sharp, persistent, monotonous noise, and nothing more. But let this listener not be in a hurry. Let him sit down awhile and watch the operation of sending messages. That cool, quiet fellow, who handles the black buttoned brass key so deftly, can interpret this jumble of sound. With now and then a "break" he writes it in English as it comes in upon him like a second class hail storm. The nature of the multifarious messages matters little to the operator, so long as he can take them readily. Now he transmits the urgent business telegram, and again he sends the tidings of sorrow and death. Intellectually he knows the difference between them. Morally he does not. As a professional character your prime "lightning slinger" is altogether devoid of sentiment. In this respect he resembles an educated surgeon in good practice, who carves and slashes away among our bones and tissues as unconcerned as his co-worker, the wood sawyer, divides a fireless stick. But what miracle the telegraph operators are constantly performing! They deal with the half tamed devil of electricity, and only get kicked over occasionally for meddling with him. They grasp the ends of the earth in their nimble fingers, and listen to the measured rhythm of an organ whose keys are "over the hills and far away." The instantaneous flash of the hoots of these winged steeds of air, and the peremptory way in which they announce their arrival, reminds us of Davy Crockett's "hell in harness."

Does anybody think of the inestimable usefulness of the poorly paid telegraph operator? All day long he sits in his chair and scatters abroad the nervous fluid of all life. Messages of all sorts pass through his faithful hands. He knows secrets which are vital to the business, the prosperity, the reputation, the existence itself of thousands, but he rarely betrays them. From the dignified presence down through all grades of men to the bustling grocer, who wants a barrel of sugar sent C. O. D. by express, all must take the operator into their confidence. Then, when night has drawn her curtains round the sleeping world, and business has stopped its weary wheels in all the large offices the second instalment of operators comes on duty. They refresh the "locals," roll up their mental shirt sleeves and listen. Belated messages of a personal kind now and then roll upon the table. "Press" pours in by the column. Hard words, long words, English, French, Dutch, Russian, and Spanish words rattle over the brass jaws of the incessant "sounder." Quickly, and with few mistakes, the trained ear takes and classifies it all. Daylight "breaks" but the operator doesn't. Time's up, however. He disconnects and starts for home.

Considering the kind of service rendered by the telegraph operators, their responsibility, their intimate relation to the essential facts of each day's experience throughout the world, does the public appreciate these men? Or are they to be ranked with the great class, like locomotive engineers and steamboat pilots, of whom everything is required, and who get fewer thanks than dollars, and not enough of either to fill a child's thimble? We don't say as to that but pleasure in stating the men of the throttle valve, the wheel and the key—a trinity of industry and skill. Strength to the boiler, the rudder and the battery, and good luck to the servants of civilization.—Exchange.

ROTATION.—As the seasons revolve, each with their peculiar interest, there is not one of the four more attractive than the "Christmas Holidays." The fact of an unpropitious past year and an obscure and unpropitious approaching new one, becomes very properly smothered in the strict observance of the season. With a full appreciation of the admirable stocks of others, temptingly reminding one of the holidays, and the utility of a full purse and a generous heart, we will be pardoned for our apparent vanity, in expressing a belief, that unlike them the specialties we have adopted for the occasion would do credit to any city of importance. Conspicuous, beautifully illustrated, and other attractive and instructive incentives to knowledge. Also, a general assortment of Gift Books for those more mature. Hand some Church Services and Prayer Books, a few chaste and beautiful photographic pictures in appropriate frames, such as would adorn any respectable room; Photographic Albums, etc. To us meretricious attractions become painful. T. N. Hibben & Co.

RAYMOND SEWING MACHINE.—A. B. Gray has just received a new supply of these celebrated Sewing Machines; to which are added hemming, tucking, frilling, braiding, and other appliances. These Lockstitch Machines are made in three sizes, and are beautifully mounted on handsome walnut tables, and elegantly chased frames. They are easy to learn, light running and durable; and possess all the latest improvements, which render them suitable alike for dress work, and for heavy manufacturing purposes. Parties requiring sewing machines, should ascertain the merits of the "Raymond," which can be proven from numerous local references, all of a most satisfactory character. An inspection of the Raymond Sewing Machines will show them to be the cheapest, while a trial will prove them to be the very best machine for family use, or for the workshop. N.B.—A supply of needles, and extra parts always on hand.—Government street, Dec. 13, 1873. A.

Memory presides over the past; Fejo Coffee over the present. The first lives in a rich temple hung with glorious trophies, and lined with gems, but Fejo's Coffee has but one shrine and that is every breakfast table its aroma wafts the earth like a spirit and can be found for sale at every respectable dealer's in British Columbia. Beware of spurious imitations.

BRITISH SUBJECTS CAPTURED AND SHOT.

The London papers of the 18th Nov. publish the following important statement from the Foreign Office:—"Mr Crawford, the Acting British Consul-General at Havana, having been instructed to watch the case of the Virginians, and to obtain a fair trial for any British subjects who might be among the prisoners, reported on the 15th inst., that the chase of the Virginians began, and her capture was effected, on the high sea; that, in spite of all efforts of the Governor of Jamaica and others, sixteen British subjects, forming part of the crew of the Virginians, were shot at Santiago on the 11th inst., and that there were still seven British subjects remaining among the prisoners, of whom six were under age. Her Majesty's ship Niobe arrived at Santiago on the day after the executions. On the receipt of this intelligence instructions were sent by telegraph to her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, the Acting Consul-General at Havana, the Vice-Consul at Santiago, and the Governor of Jamaica, to the effect that her Majesty's Government would reserve the question of the executions which had already taken place, but that they would hold the Spanish Government, and all persons concerned, responsible for any further executions of British subjects. A telegram from her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, dated the 16th inst., reports that senior Castelar had sent a telegram to the Captain-General of Cuba ordering the suspension of all further executions of British subject or others. This had been telegraphed to the Acting British Consul-General at Havana, the Vice Consul at Santiago, and the Governor of Jamaica.

In reply to an enquiry addressed to him by telegraph, the Acting British Consul-General at Havana, has reported that the names of the British subjects executed are as follows:—James Blood, second mate; Henry King, assistant engineer; Thomas Gregg, fireman; Frank Good, fireman; Barney Herald, fireman; Henry Frank, coal trimmer; Samuel Hard, coal trimmer; Alfred Hassel, coal trimmer; James Read, coal trimmer; Walter Prince, coal trimmer; George Thomas, coal trimmer; Thomas Walter, chief steward; Simon Broom, second steward; William Ross, seaman; Henry Bond, seaman; George Thompson, seaman.

"The surviving prisoners on the 8th inst., were:—Sydney Robertson, William Curtis, Samuel Hall, George Winster, William Marshall, Abraham Penton, George Burke. The last six are coloured lads."

GENERAL SHERMAN REPORT.

The report of the General of the Army to the Secretary of War is brief. He says:—

I have the honor herewith to submit a statement showing the organization and actual strength of enlisted men at the latest date, and invite your attention to the recapitulation, showing 25,535 enlisted men of cavalry, artillery and infantry, and 3,970 non-combatants the whole aggregating 29,505, or 455 less than the number—30,000—limited by law. In the active regiments the number of men sick and the necessary details about the posts will fully equal 25 per cent., so that the actual strength for military service does not exceed 19,641 men. In order that the regular army should fulfill its arduous duties on the frontier, as also form the model on which to shape the volunteers and militia force of the United States, I earnestly recommend that Congress be asked to fix the limit of the enlisted forces at such a figure as will give 30,000 for the regiments of the line, and to provide specially for the non-combatant detachments, such as the engineer battalion, the Ordnance Department, West Point detachment, Signal Department, Ordnance and commissary sergeants in the same manner as has been done for the hospital staff.

The artillery regiments have an organization different from the infantry, viz. twelve batteries to a regiment, but of these only one is equipped and instructed as a battery of artillery, the other eleven companies of each regiment being armed with muskets and instructed as infantry. In order to simplify the organization to apply the new tactics (now approaching completion) to all arms of the service alike, with your approval I have ordered that the word "battery" apply, technically, to such only as are provided with horses and guns; and all others to be called "companies." Some of the artillery officers think the act of July 28, 1866, entitles them to the same "battery" whether they have guns or not, and it might be well to ask a modification of the law so as to read "battery or company" for the artillery regiments, to correspond with the words "troop or company" used for the cavalry in the same act.

The number of regimental commissioned officers on duty, or belonging to the several departments and divisions, number in the aggregate 1,532; presents for duty, 1,334; absent on leave or detached 208. The foregoing does not include the thirty-one second lieutenants recently appointed from civil life, now under orders to join their regiments.

I now enclose the annual reports of the division and department commanders, copies of which have been submitted to you as received. The military divisions embrace the whole area of the United States, and these reports include the acts of all the regular army, leaving nothing to be added by way of history of the events during the past year. The reports of all the department commanders, with the exception of that of the Department of Columbia, not yet received, are herewith sent. No part of the army is under my immediate control, and the existing army regulation devolve on the Secretary of War, the actual command of the military peace establishment, and all responsibility thereof; so that I forbear making any further recommendations or report. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. T. Sherman, General.
